Innovation Advancement Program

The Innovation Advancement Program (IAP) is open to graduate and honors undergraduate students with diverse backgrounds in business, engineering, the sciences and law. Undergraduate students from the Barrett, The Honors College and graduate students from the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law, W.P Carey School of Business, Ira A. Fulton School of Engineering, and College of Liberal Arts and Sciences work together to assist in the commercialization and monetization of new technologies developed at ASU.

What students do:

Students help entrepreneurs with technology start-up efforts by:

- Performing intellectual property analyses
- Forming business entities and drafting contracts
- Creating technology assessments
- Recommending commercialization strategies

Time commitments:

- 15 -20 (law) or 10-12 (others) hours per week on IAP project(s)
- One hour each week in IAP team meeting (ATTENDANCE REQUIRED)
- Two-hour seminar each week (ATTENDANCE REQUIRED)
- Four 'office hours' each week at Sky Song office (students set their own 'office hours' during regular business hours: M-Th, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.)

Course information:

- Law students must complete 300 hours during the semester, including class time (approx. 20 hours per week)
- Enrollment is limited
- Students receive six units of credit
  - Two hours graded/seminar
  - Four hours pass/fail client component
- MBA students receive four units of credit
- Other students receive three units of credit

Mandatory training:

- Attend the full day orientation session, which is scheduled at SkySong for Friday, January 10, 2014, just prior to the start of the semester

To apply:

- Submit your application online at: www.law.asu.edu/clinicapps

For more information contact:

Suzanne Lynn
suzanne.lynn@asu.edu or 480-727-9332

www.law.asu.edu/iap

INNOVATION ADVANCEMENT PROGRAM
ASU Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law
Arizona State University
A helping hand for technology start-ups in Arizona