The rules for determining Arizona residency for purposes of admission and tuition to Arizona's public universities are set by the Arizona Board of Regents and interpreted, on Arizona State University's campus, by the Residency Classification Office. The Residency Office gives the College of Law limited ability to make an initial residency determination for applicants to the law school. In many cases if the information below is incomplete, we will be unable to grant residency, and residency will have to be further pursued through the Residency Classification Office. To be a resident of Arizona, a petitioner must show

- 12 months of physical presence (You must be at least 18 at the beginning of the domicile year.) To be eligible for classification as a resident for tuition purposes, you must provide clear and convincing evidence of continuous physical presence in the state of Arizona for the 12 months which precede the semester in question. The 12 month period is referred to as a domicile year.
- Intent to establish a domicile Your evidence of intent to be a resident of this state is demonstrated by the absence of ties to your former state of residence. Actions used to indicate intent must be accomplished at the beginning of and maintained throughout the domicile year. If implementation of these steps is delayed, the start of your one year domicile period will be delayed. All requirements must be demonstrated for one full year before resident status may be granted. Samples of indicia of intent and additional information about residency can be found at <http://students.asu.edu/residency>.

Two letters of recommendation are required for consideration for the MLS program. The most helpful recommendations usually are those that address the candidate's strength of character, academic background, analytical abilities, and communication skills.

E. Academic Transcripts

Official transcripts from all post-secondary institutions of higher education that you attended must be submitted to the College of Law. "Official transcript" means a transcript certified by the issuing school to us or delivered to us in a sealed envelope with seal intact. If your answer to any of the above questions is "yes," you must include a separate statement providing a complete description of your actions and full details of the charges and sanctions against you. For example, to be complete, the statement must include a description of all charges merged in any guilty or no contest plea. You also must include the date(s) of the matter(s), the status or final disposition of the charge(s) including your current status with the disciplinary or criminal authorities (for example, the status of your parole) and the name and address of the authority in possession of these records. Additionally, please provide your personal account of the events that led to the charges or discipline.
