2014 GLOBAL MARKETS LAW JOURNAL

Writing Competition

$3,000 GRAND PRIZE

Purpose

The Center for International Law at The John Marshall Law School in Chicago sponsors the Global Markets Law Journal Writing Competition to encourage outstanding student scholarship that promotes greater interest in, and understanding of, the law of capital markets.

Eligibility

The John Marshall Law School Global Markets Law Journal invites JD and LLM students at all U.S. law schools to participate in this writing competition.

Topic

Please submit an original essay on a topic of your choice that addresses some aspect of the law of capital markets, including securities, commodities, futures, options, derivatives, and related issues.

Prizes

The author of the winning essay will receive a cash prize of $3,000. The first runner-up will receive $1,500 and the second runner-up will receive $500. The winning essays will be published in the summer 2014 volume of The John Marshall Law School Global Markets Law Journal.

Rules

The essay must be an original work. Each entrant is limited to one entry only. The essay must not currently be under consideration for publication by any other publication or have been compensated by another publisher.
